

Joe Pennacchio

USA

Joe Pennacchio is the USTA chairman of District 6. He is a retired CEO who spent most of his career in department store retailing. His last assignment was as the president of Jordan Marsh department stores in Boston. Pennacchio has spent more than 15 years as CEO for consumer products companies that were both manufacturing and distribution companies. He has had significant experience running companies with both United States and foreign facilities and has served on several boards for both private and public companies. Pennacchio is the past president of the Florida Standardbred Breeders and Owners Association. He has been in the Standardbred business for more than 25 years, is a passionate amateur driver, and was named USHWA's Amateur Driver of the Year in 2018. Most importantly, he loves the horses and this sport.

